

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XX.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1892.

NO. 48

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Mr. Ed Doty entertained the Junior Club Thursday evening.

—Our efficient post-master, Miss Ella Watson, has appointed Mr. Kirk Kirby as deputy.

—Our young friend, H. Clay Hamilton, will in a few days open a meat store on Lexington street. We wish the young gentleman much success.

—During the storm Tuesday evening the lightning stunned John Clark, better known as "Red Cloud," and also burned two stacks of hay in the old Baker field, near the depot.

—Two of the candidates for the democratic nomination for circuit clerk, Messrs. George Walden and Brad Jennings, have withdrawn from the race, leaving only Will Mason in the field. Nominations will be made Monday for sheriff and circuit clerk.

—Italy backed down; Chili backed down; England backed down and now it is reported that Canada has backed down, all at the bidding of Uncle Sam. Samuel is a wonderful man when he gets his dander up, and he is no more afraid of a small foe than he is of a large one; and woe be to the nation that dares to tread on the tail of his coat.

—Miss Nell Anderson, of Indiana, arrived Monday to visit her mother, Mrs. Susan Anderson. Miss Maggie Bright has returned to Stanford. Miss Mattie Walker has returned from a week's visit at Crab Orchard. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rice are spending this week at Linnetta Springs. Mrs. Clel Johnston and son are visiting Mrs. T. M. Johnston. Geo. T. Mason, of Chicago, is visiting his mother, Mrs. E. J. Mason. Henry Sandifer, of Middleboro, is visiting his grand-mother, Mrs. W. H. Smith. Miss Mamie Noel is the guest of Miss Ella Dunn, at Bryansville. El Sutton, of Marksburg, has accepted a position in R. H. Batson's store. Miss Ella West has returned to Georgetown. Capt. Wellington Harlan, of Harrodsburg, was in town Wednesday. Dr. Joe Rogers is spending a few days in Bloomington, Ind.

—Not many years ago the fruit crop rarely ever failed. Probably not oftener than once in every four years the crop proved short, and there was seldom a total failure. The fruit was also of a better quality than we have at present. Of the many varieties of apples, peaches and pears that are now placed on the market, many of them are tasteless and insipid, and frequently fail to come to maturity. The changes that have been taking place in the seasons may have something to do with the crop failure, but it would not necessarily affect the quality of the fruit. The country is flooded with catalogues of fruits from Maine to Georgia that are profusely illustrated with cuts of peaches, pears, apples, strawberries, melons, &c., that tempt the grower into purchases that rarely ever prove to be anything like the representations made in the books, or by the agents of dealers. The grafted or budded fruit is not so reliable as the seedling in producing a sure crop, although some of it is of an excellent quality.

—It is very important that the discovery of America should be celebrated now and then—say once in every 100 years—for fear that the people might forget that it was discovered, or that Columbus had anything to do with it. Of course nobody will be any richer, wiser or happier on account of such celebrations, but then it will give employment to speakers who are proud of their attainments, and who are never so happy as when they have by force of circumstances cornered a goodly number of their fellow-citizens, who are compelled to listen to whatever may be furnished for the occasion. It also affords an opportunity to "eat, drink and be merry" under a pretext of a faithful discharge of duty in upholding the honor of the Nation that is superintending the festivities of the occasion. So, hurrah for Columbus, Mrs. Columbus and the Columbuses from Christopher down! We are sorry he is not alive to-day to make further discoveries. He might go in search of the North Pole and come back with flying colors, like Dr. Kane, if he didn't freeze while floating amid the ice or hunting the gay and festive bear.

—Ballard Smith, editor-in-chief of the New York World, has "resigned" because he took too ultra grounds in favor of the Homestead strikers for the proprietor.

—Wm. White, for 37 years grand secretary of Grand Lodge and Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows in Kentucky and for 57 years a member of the order, died in Louisville aged 76.

—Director General Davis, of the World's Columbian Commission, says Congress has really given the fair $3,283,000, or $783,000 more than it is generally understood the bill called for. In addition he says he knows already of an offer of 20 per cent. premium on the issue of $2,500,000 in half dollars, and looks upon Congress' action as a present of nearly $4,000,000, when a loan of $5,000,000 only was asked for. As this is a gift pure and simple the fair people ought to be pretty well satisfied.

DANVILLE.

—The INTERIOR JOURNAL which should have reached here Tuesday morning, this week, did not arrive till Wednesday morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hann returned to Denton, Texas, Wednesday after a pleasant visit to their old home here.

—Connor, by C. F. Clay, owned by Warren Russell, of Danville, took the second money in the great race at Cincinnati Tuesday. Time: 2:18, 2:19.

—Messrs. R. L. Salter, G. W. Coulter and J. B. Caldwell, heretofore appointed by the county court to divide the county into justices' districts, have submitted the following report to Judge McFerran, dividing the county into six districts. (Our attentive correspondent sends us the report in full, but it is too lengthy for our limited space. Ed.)

—Messrs. J. B. Paxton, of Lincoln, B. F. Slavin, of Garrard, Dr. Plummer, of Mercer, G. D. Mahan, Boyle, composing the Democratic Central Committee, met here Wednesday morning and by a majority vote concluded to adhere to the plan for the primary election in the circuit court judge's race adopted by them on the 4th inst. and published in this paper on Tuesday.

—Miss Sallie K. Letcher has returned to Richmond after a visit to the Misses Lyle. Mrs. E. B. Thiele has returned from Chicago. Miss Hattie Phillips has returned to her home in Louisville after a visit to Miss Mary McRoberts. Miss Mary McRoberts will leave Friday for a two-week's stay at Estill Springs. Col. Thos. McRoberts, Miss Sue McRoberts and Miss Julia Higgins are visiting in Lincoln county. Mr. James Lane Allen, of Chicago, and Mr. C. C. Fox, of this place, are absent on a fishing trip at Cumberland river. Miss Laura Downton accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hann to Denham, Texas, Tuesday. She will remain there for some time.

—Hon. Joseph S. Joplin, republican representative in the present legislature from Rockcastle county, called up county clerk Nichols Tuesday night about 9 o'clock and asked for license to marry a lady giving the name of Miss Eliza A. Ferrill. Minister Allen was sent for and the parties were married in the county clerk's office. The said to be a step-daughter of Jasper Reckels, who is either now or was a short time ago a tenant on Mr. Joplin's Rockcastle farm. The bride and two other ladies, probably relatives, have been living here several weeks in one of J. M. Quisenberry's new cottages on East Main Street. The bride is a mother of a two months' old child and it is said has two other children in Rockcastle county under the care of her mother.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—At the late teacher's examination, out of 11 who went through the ordeal, only two obtained certificates—one a first and the other a third class.

—Commissioners F. P. Combest, H. D. Gifford and A. A. Woolford have filed their report in the county clerk's office, making eight magisterial districts.

—A. R. Clarke and wife have returned from a two week's visit to his father-in-law in Midway. Misses Jennie Ellis and Mollie Gabbery were on a visit to Miss Bertha Elliott on Friday and Saturday.

—Col. Silas Adams returned here Friday night and started Saturday morning for Frankfort. From all parts of the Congressional districts come the encouraging news that he is gaining strength in all directions.

—A Mr. Shearer, representing a firm at Nicholasville, in company with W. T. Humphrey, of this place, started on an extensive tour on Tuesday morning through the lower part of the county for the purpose of viewing the timber prospects, with a possibility of establishing a stove factory in our county.

—The Hon. D. G. Colson addressed a good-sized audience at the court-house on the 6th inst. While treating Colonel Adams with the greatest courtesy, John Henry got a little "blixam" for about three-quarters of an hour, after which he very ably handled the tariff and other questions before the people for about an hour. His audience gave fine attention to his effort.

—Miss Bertha Elliott, of this place, has commenced a school on the Tennessee Ridge, three miles from here, with the best prospects of success. Miss Bertha is the orphan daughter of a former leading citizen of this county and this is her first school. She has taken great pains to qualify herself for the occupation, besides attending other good schools, she was a student for some time of the National Normal University of Lebanon, Ohio. She has the well wishes and sympathy of the people generally.

—Hugh Costello was shot and mortally wounded near Lebanon by Peter Sherlock.

—At Wilder's, Kenton county, a round house and eight freight cars belonging to the L. & N. were totally destroyed by fire. Loss $10,000; no insurance.

—Wind, rain and hail caused nearly a million dollars' worth of damage to property and crops in Minnesota, Wisconsin and South Dakota Sunday night.

THE BIG PICNIC.

DILLION SPRINGS, Aug. 10.—A crowd estimated at about 800 gathered here at the foot of the famous Wild Cat Mountain, to-day, and made the occasion a delightful one all the way through. It was a picnic given by the employees of the L. & N. and those in charge deserve great credit for the management of what proved to be a decided success. The first excursion train of five coaches arrived from Stanford at 10 o'clock, on which standing room was at a premium. Another train from Corbin arrived at 11:30, and on this came the London full brass band and they whooped things up in good style. This band furnished the music for the dance, which was kept up during the day on the large platform erected for that purpose. The picnic grounds are immediately on the banks of Rockcastle river, densely shaded by majestic forest trees, and the surrounding scenery is beautiful, with wild flowers dotting the mountains on either side. Besides dancing, the picnickers engaged in boat riding, courting and other amusements, and I noticed a number of young ladies swinging mighty high on swings that were there for that purpose.

Mr. J. W. Carrier acted as general utility man.

The committee of arrangements were Messrs. J. B. Douglas, R. L. Martin, Wm. Abbey, James P. Kearns, George Rao and E. A. Hughes and they did their work well and everybody seemed to have a delightful time.

The music committee, Messrs. Dave Burgess and Thomas Higgins, kept the ball rolling and each one danced to his or her heart's content.

Mr. Mike Winterhall acted as prompter and a better one never lived.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dillion spread dinner for nearly 200 and it was indeed a sumptuous repast. The rest of the crowd had baskets of dinner.

Dan Jones, 14 years old, is the snare drummer of the London band, and tho' in stature a little short, he gets there all the same.

A more orderly crowd never assembled. This those in charge were determined should be the case. Not a man that even looked like he had had a drink in ten days was noticed on the ground. One fellow drew a bottle of the vile stuff on the train and he was told to drop it out the window, or he himself would go out. The bottle went. Some Winchester and Smith & Wesson's were secreted on the grounds on the side of law and order, but they remained out of sight.

That young lady who liked to have danced out of her dress did some good grabbing when the skirts began to fall.

Babies were as thick on the ground as the surrounding paw-paw trees, and assisted in the music.

If Mr. Dillion or any of the committees left anything undone to make the picnic a success, nobody found out what it was.

There were plenty of pretty girls at the picnic from Mt. Vernon, Crab Orchard, Rowland, London and other points along the line. Every once in a while, however, one could be seen that was as ugly as home-made sin, but I don't know where they were from.

Capt. W. R. Dillion seems to be in the lumber business on an extensive scale. The capacity of his saw mill here is 25,000 feet per day. He has in the mill all the latest machinery. He has a tramway by which huge logs are brought over the mountain a mile distant and landed at the mill. The engine that does this work is almost a mile from the mill. About 700,000 feet of different kinds of lumber is now piled up in the yards, which are nearly half a mile long. The planing mill adjoining, just completed by Dillion & Johnson, is equipped with all the latest machinery and is a big thing. Every piece of lumber with which to build a house can be made into proper shape at this mill, so like Solomon's temple, it can be shipped elsewhere and almost be put up without the sound of a hammer being heard. Mr. Dillion says that the business done at his general supply store here amounts to about $1,000 per month. Mr. E. R. Davis is in charge.

It is the intention of the L. & N. employees to give a picnic annually at Dillion Springs, and they say that those of the future shall be on even a larger scale than the one of to-day. J. F. W.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Dr. A. Pollock and wife, of Germantown, Mason county, have just celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage. The doctor is 84 years old and has been blind for nearly 25 years. His wife is a few years his junior.

—The Texas giant, Col. Torvell, 7 feet, 8 inches tall, and Miss Henrietta Mority, only 22 inches, were married at Bolivar, Mo., on the 9th. The marriage took place in a circus, to which they belonged, and is probably a fake.

—Cloture is a word of French origin, meaning closing. As used in parliamentary proceedings it means a method of closing debate, and so forcing a final vote upon a measure.

COL. WILLIAM O'CONNELL BRADLEY.

Col. Bradley was born in Lancaster, Ky., where he still lives, March 18, 1847. His father was the leading land lawyer of the State, but owing to his liberality and lack of financial management, died a poor man. Young Bradley received only poor educational advantages. He never went to school after he arrived at the age of 14. The war then broke out and owing to the practical suspension of the courts, the father moved from place to place, and never settled down permanently till 1864. The elder Bradley made the first Coercion speech, as it was then called, ever delivered in Kentucky, and was a most intense Union man. Young Bradley ran away from home twice and went into the Union army, but on each occasion, owing to the influence of the father, was taken out of the army, the father objecting because of his youth. In 1862, when the Refugee Guard was formed in Louisville, out of which grew Gen. Nelson's death, he became a member of it and served until discharged. He was raised in Pulaski county and for that county he has always entertained the warmest affection. At an early age he displayed remarkable oratorical powers. When he was admitted to the bar in 1865 the statutes of Kentucky forbade the granting of license to any person under 25 years old; but the General Assembly passed an act, the first of the kind ever passed in Kentucky, allowing any two circuit judges upon finding an applicant competent to license him. After procuring license he entered into partnership with his father, by whom he was thoroughly trained, and now stands in the front rank of Kentucky's lawyers and advocates. His first appearance before the Kentucky Court of Appeals created a sensation. The court was charmed with his logic and eloquence and the papers were filled with the most complimentary notices. In 1870, the first year the negro voted, he became a candidate for prosecuting attorney. After a most exciting race he was elected and filled the office with fidelity and ability. In 1872 he ran for Congress against Hon. M. J. Durham and was defeated by only 600 votes. In 1876 his party again called him to run for Congress, and on this occasion he received nearly 3,000 more votes than in 1872, but was defeated by 2,800 votes, owing to an influx of voters by reason of the C. S. R. R. He was urged to make the race again in 1878, but declined and the next year declined the nomination for governor, on account of his youth. In 1880 he was elected delegate-at-large to the Chicago convention and made an eloquent speech seconding the nomination of Grant. He was also chosen delegate-at-large in 1884. In 1887 his party made him its standard-bearer for governor and his splendid race against Gov. Buckner is still fresh in the minds of our readers. In 1888 Col. Bradley was again elected delegate-at-large and developed much strength for the vice-presidential candidacy, and might have gotten it but for the fact that he was from the South. President Harrison appointed him to the Korean mission, which he declined, and on the death of Col. Goodloe he was made National committee-man for Kentucky, which position he now holds, as well as a place on the executive committee. He represented Kentucky again at the last republican convention and took a large part in securing the re-nomination of Mr. Harrison.

The above is condensed from a New York paper, which recently published with his picture several columns of the life and doings of the genial and whole-souled gentleman, who is a power in his party and honored and loved by all democrats who know his many sterling qualities of head and heart. No man has done more for his party than Col. Bradley and none has received less reward. For a republican to run for office in Kentucky is as a general thing the worst kind of rainbow-chasing, but the colonel is always ready to spend and be spent for the cause he so courageously espouses. It is said that he can get almost any appointment from the president that would ordinarily be sought, but his law practice is so large that he could not afford to give it up for anything short of a first-class mission or a place in the cabinet. The INTERIOR JOURNAL, though diametrically opposed to him in nearly all his views, is proud to number the colonel among its best friends and hopes in time to turn him from the error of his way.

Owing to the fact that counterfeit coins are bad conductors, Prof. Elihu Thomson suggests the electric current as a means of detecting spurious money.

W. P. WALTON.

In a letter to a gentleman at Henderson, who asked him to define his position on the silver coinage question, Senator Carlisle says he is opposed to free coinage of either gold or silver, but in favor of unlimited coinage of both metals upon terms of exact equality. No discrimination should be made in favor of one metal and against the other, nor should any discrimination be made in favor of holders of either gold or silver bullion and against the great body of people who own other kinds of property. Gold and silver bullion should be treated exactly alike in the mints of the United States—that is, that a dollar's worth of gold should be coined into a gold dollar, and a dollar's worth of silver should be coined into a silver dollar, and if no charges are made for coining the one, then no charges should be made for coining the other. The declaration made upon the subject of coinage of silver by the democratic party at its recent National convention is perfectly sound in principle and enunciates the only true public policy. It may be impossible for any single government to establish a ratio which will be sufficiently stable to sustain the free coinage of both metals without disturbing its monetary system. If so, an international conference is the only tribunal that can extricate us from the existing situation and any measure looking to the complete remonetization of silver and the equality of the dollars coined from the two metals will receive the Senator's cordial support.

COL. H. CLAY KING, the assassin of a brother lawyer, who was to have been hung at Memphis to-day, will not stretch hemp as he so justly deserves to do. He was sentenced, after a trial of a month, in July, 1891, to die for the murder of Lawyer Poston, whom he waylaid and killed because of some matters brought out in the trial growing out of Colonel King's intrigue with the widow of Gen. Pillow. Since then every technicality has been resorted to from the lowest to the highest courts, a final attempt being made to get the case before the U. S. Supreme Court to save the murderer's neck, without avail. Then King tried the insanity dodge, an appeal was made to the governor and the sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life. The next governor of Tennessee will pardon him and one of the most cowardly murders will go unavenged. It was never down in the books that so "fine a gentleman" as King should have his neck broken by the law, such penalties are alone reserved for the common herd, but it would have been a triumph of the law and a vindication of justice, if he had been permitted to hang. It would have brought the law into greater respect than the hangings of a dozen less noted men and refuted the general belief that punishment is only for poor folks and negroes. The commutation is said to have aroused deep indignation in Memphis, where King barely escaped lynching at the time of the murder.

"It is given out from New York that Col. W. O. Bradley, of Kentucky, will have general charge of the republican campaign in the Southern States. Now let the valiant colonel, before entering upon this great rainbow-chasing campaign of his life, fulfill his promise to tell exactly the sort of a force bill that would meet his distinguished approbation and enlist his invaluable support."—Louisville Times. We should all like to know, you know, and we admonish the colonel that unless he declares against the infamous measure as passed by the House of the 51st Congress, we will forever turn the handsome picture of him, which we give in this issue, to the wall.

The appointment of Gov. McCreary to be one of the members of the International Monetary Conference, shortly to meet in Europe, shows that the president is a pretty good judge of a man. He could not have made a better appointment, as Gov. McCreary is a most level-headed and conservative man, who although he voted for free silver coinage, is not afflicted with the craze. The appointment is a very high and responsible one and the governor's constituency are proud of the estimation in which he is held everywhere he is known.

The democrats are bragging that the expenditures of the first session of the 52d Congress were $66,282,470.70 less than the same session of the 51st, but that is not as much as it should be when we consider that the latter appropriated in all over a billion of dollars. A good deal of the appropriations of this Congress is chargeable to the extravagance of the former, and could not be remedied, but we are very far yet from the point of raising no more money than is required for a government economically administered.

Gov. NORTHERN, of Georgia, was renominated by acclamation at Atlanta, Wednesday and most of the rest of the ticket in the same way. The governor is a man of great popularity and the unanimity with which the convention acted shows that the Georgia democrats are thoroughly united.

The democrats are in position to force the fighting and put the republicans on the defensive from the start in this campaign. It will be hard work for them to defend the tariff bill and almost an impossible job to champion, with success, the force bill or explain the reckless extravagance of Congress. We've got the republicans on the hip and we are going to lay them out flat this time.

FEARING the effect on his candidacy, Whitelaw Reid has caused the New York Tribune, which has been run for a long time as a "rat" office, to make terms with the Union, which will lift the boycott as soon as all the details are arranged. Reid is evidently anxious to have the papers stop speaking of the republican ticket as HAT-RAT.

COL. KING had to be rushed off from Memphis to prevent his being lynched. The mob might extend its tour to Nashville and try its hand on Gov. Buchanan, who kept the wretch from dying the dog's death.

The Courier-Journal has at last decided to support the democratic ticket and has boldly nailed the tariff plank of the platform at its head. Now let the band begin to play.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

—The members, it is said, will draw pay for their vacation at $5 a day.

—The Senate refused to concur in the House bill to reduce the circuit judges' salaries to $2,400 and they will probably remain at $3,000.

—The legislature has been in session 228 days at a cost of $250,000 and what has it done? "Made an ass of itself," echo plainly answers.

—The Legislature will adjourn next Tuesday to Nov. 15th. But few of the members will get back to Frankfort if their constituents have sense enough to use a rope properly.

—Mr. Carroll offered a resolution, which was adopted, asking the secretary of agriculture to advance the weather bureau station at Louisville to the rank to which it rightfully belongs. Kentucky seems to have been discriminated against in the matter, which ought to be righted at once.

—Hon. D. B. Edmiston has sent us a copy of act passed requiring railroad corporations and other persons operating and controlling railroads, and land owners, to fence their right of way and railroad track and to construct barriers and cattle guards at certain public road and highway crossings, and to maintain and to keep same in repair, and prescribing remedies and penalties for failing to do so. The owners are to pay for half of the fencing and the roads the other.

—Gen. James W. Denver, a founder of a city by that name that is now entering nearly 100,000 guests, died in Washington Tuesday at the not very advanced age of 75 years.

—John Nicholson, 81, of London, O., wishing to die and not having the desired weapon, loaded a barrel faucet with powder and bullets, used a string for a fuse and blew off the top of his head.

—It is said that 15 of the largest preserve and jelly firms of the United States and Canada have formed a combination with a capital stock of $12,000,000. Their headquarters will be in New York.

—October 12th, the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, will be a general holiday. Gen. Harrison has issued a proclamation appointing it as such, as have the governors of several States.

—At a wheat threshing a few miles west of Celina, O., John Day was feeding the thrasher and Henry Shrylock accidentally cut Day's hand. Thereupon Day thrust him into the thrasher head foremost, killing him. Then John Shrylock, a brother of the murdered man, stabbed John Day with a pitchfork and killed him.

—A mob caught an ex convict and murderer near St. Louis and threw him into a red-hot forge.

—Col. T. H. Sherley will not run for Congress in the Louisville district, so Caruth will have a walk-over.

—The treasurer of the World's Fair has already received a bid for the souvenir half dollars voted by Congress. Four million dollars is offered for the $2,500,000.

—Senator Sherman is said to have declined to make a speech at the opening of the Ohio republican campaign and the affair has caused considerable bitter feeling.

—George Babcock, of Rush township, Ill., married Julia Dean, a grand-daughter of his deceased wife, who was a widow with several children when he married her.

—Dispatches from Homestead state that an attempt will be made by the Amalgamated Association to stop the shipment of material to or from the Carnegie works by securing the aid of the different organizations of railroad men who handle trains.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. W. D. Heddleston will begin a meeting at Lawrenceburg Sunday to last two weeks.

—There have been 41 additions to Elder Martin's meeting at Paris and excellent work continues.

—The Sunday school children of the First Presbyterian, Danville, were given a picnic Wednesday by their teachers on the banks of Dix river, near Capt. J. H. Wilson's.

—D. G. Combs, evangelist of the Madison Co-operation Meeting of Christian Churches, reports that during the month of July he baptised 41 persons in Jackson county, reclaimed 10, received 8 by letter and from other sources 13, a total of 72.—Climax.

—The meeting at the Turnersville Christian church which has been conducted by Rev. George Combs has resulted so far in 17 additions. Mr. Combs left yesterday, but Revs. Ellis and Montgomery will continue meeting till Sunday.

—Rev. Sam Jones seems to be ceasing to be a drawing card. At the Urbana, O., camp meeting the crowd that came to hear him was so small that it didn't pay half the expenses. People soon tire of buffoonery in the pulpit and as a general thing prefer to see a clown in a circus and not in a meeting-house.

—A dispatch says that a band of sanctificationists, known as the Jessamine Holiness Association, have been holding meetings in Garrard for several days past and the crowd in attendance is estimated at 1,000 to 1,200 people, the majority of whom go merely through curiosity. The religion they teach is indeed of a wonderful kind, claiming that they are in a state of perfect sanctification, one of the propounders of the faith claiming that he had not committed a single sin for more than 30 years. The convert is taken through a cleansing process, ultimately coming out purely holy. It is said that the language used by some of the preachers at this meeting would make the vilest sinner blush.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Whooping cough is raging throughout the county.

—Some 35 persons attended the picnic at Dillon's Springs from here.

—A boiler burst at Griffin's Mill last Saturday and seriously burned Mr. Griffin's head.

—Children and some grown persons are still greatly agitated over the question of "What is it?"

—Our present county clerk, M. C. Miller, was married Tuesday morning in Franklin county to Miss Anna Green.

—Mrs. P. J. Smith, who has been quite ill for some time, is some better. Edgar Albright and Simeon Davis are quite sick.

—Miss Bertha Wolf, of Indiana, gave a very delightful elocutionary entertainment Wednesday night at the court-house.

—Lawyer, Preacher and Teacher Carrier bobbed up serenely several times during the Institute and made some very flowery speeches.

—Last Saturday night some 14 young people started out for a hay ride. Every one participating seemed to be in his happiest mood. Bugles of all kinds, police whistles, bones and harps were freely used and a general good time was had until the "wee sma" hours of the night.

—Miss Gertrude Weber will entertain some young friends this evening. J. H. Haley and son Willie, of Somerset, have been in town during the week visiting relatives. Poynter went to Garrard Tuesday and brought back Mrs. R. E. Thompson, who has been sick for several months. She stood the trip exceedingly well.

—The Institute has been a decided success in every particular. The teachers manifest much enthusiasm on all questions. Prof. Newman is lively and energetic, Supt. Baker presides with much dignity, while Jasper Brown and C. H. Martin are fighting as to who shall have the floor. A lively debate was had last night, after which the ladies gave a "grab-bag" entertainment.

—Hon. G. W. McClure was in Danville Wednesday. Editor E. B. Smith attended the picnic. Jesse M. Alverson, of Richmond, is visiting one of the county "beauties." Circuit Clerk W. M. Fish was in town Monday. It was his first visit since last November. Robert Levey has started a barber shop over Houk & Son's store. He shaves well. Give him a trial. DEMOCRATS should bear in mind the primary election on the 20th and make it a point to go and vote for the best man for circuit judge. The people of Lincoln county especially should turn out and vote even if all of them should not prefer their home man. Let us have a full and fair expression of the will of the party.
A HANDKERCHIEF, with the name of editor's dear dead wife on it, in her own handwriting, was found on the grounds of the Turnersville Christian Church Tuesday night and brought to us by Mrs. Alice Cloyd and Miss Belle Cash. THE ice factory is running at full capacity and turning out ice of the finest quality. Danville and Lancaster are both being supplied from it at present and a ton or two goes up to the mountain towns daily. The retail price here is 50 cents per hundred delivered, at the rate of 60 cents between 50 and 100 lbs. and six pounds for 5 cents.
THE L. & N. will sell round trip tickets to Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 19 to 22, inclusive, good returning till Sept. 15, on account of the meeting of the Knights of Pythias, at the following low rates: Lebanon, $8; Campbellsville, $8.60; Greensburg, $8.85; Mitchellburg, $8.57; Junction City, $8.75; Stanford, $9.11; Crab Orchard, $9.46; London, $10.72; Williamsburg, $11.68; Barboursville, $11.77; Jellico, $12; Pineville, $12.36. Call on L. & N. R. R. agents for tickets and further information. W. W. Penn, T. P. A., Junction City, Ky.
THE North American Insurance Co. has proposed to pay Mrs. H. S. Withers $2,900 of the $3,000 policy she held, but she has not accepted. The reason the adjuster gives for taking off the $100 is that the estimates, $3,800, made of the loss are too great. That oughtn't to cut any figure, however, as her loss is complete. The Aetna has agreed to pay Mr. W. B. McRoberts $2,400 of the $2,500 he held, the reduction being on account of the loss on jewelry, in which the policy had not been transferred. The Springfield had already paid him $500, the full amount of the policy.
CUT EIGHT TIMES.—Tuesday afternoon Willis Nailor and Jim Sprinkles got into a quarrel over the desertion of Sprinkles' half-sister by Nailor and the dispute waxed warm. They were about to come to blows when Jim Manuel, a cousin of the deserted wife, rushed in and cut Nailor eight times in the body and arms. The wounds while some of them are severe, are not dangerous, and Nailor will soon be all right. The whole party were drinking. Manuel was arrested and lodged in jail till yesterday when he was released on $100 bond. Nailor was unable to be present.
IN February, 1893, while Morgan's command was crossing that turbulent stream, Caney Fork, in Tennessee, a soldier belonging to the 6th Kentucky cavalry was thrown from his horse and drowned, notwithstanding the determined efforts of Judge M. C. Saufley, then a lieutenant in company E, who jumped into the raging waters to save him at the risk of his own life. Judge Stephen Burch, who was a member of the same regiment, is anxious to know the name and former residence of the soldier drowned and if this should meet the eye of any one who knows, he will please communicate with him at Stanford.

Mr. B. G. Govey killed a mad dog in his back yard a few days ago. It had done no damage, but was certainly mad.
PICNIC by John Bardels at Ottenheim, Saturday, August 20, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. Everybody invited.
JUDGE M. C. SAUFLEY has had bills printed announcing that he will speak at Salvisa, Aug. 19 and inviting the other candidates for circuit judge to be present.
WHILE playing around the burnt district yesterday afternoon, Jim Menefee stepped on a piece of broken crockery and cut two ugly gashes in the bottom of his left foot.
A HEAVY rain fell for a few minutes at noon yesterday. It didn't wet much, but we are thankful even for small favors now. Stock water is very scarce and the pastures are dried nearly up.
WE are promised electric lights tomorrow night, certainly not later than Tuesday, and water next week. Let us arise and sing the long metre Doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," while Bro. Vandever lines it off.
MIDDLESBORO.—Rev. Geo. O. Barnes, so we are informed by Mr. George H. Bruce, who was told so by Capt. Brooks, of the Middlesboro Company, said at the close of his meeting there that he had traveled all over the world and been in boom towns innumerable, but he never saw a town with more backing for greatness than the Magic City, and Capt. Brooks added that he showed his faith by his works by investing $2,000 there.
THE district committee declined to change their order fixing a primary election for Aug. 20, by ballot, to nominate candidates for circuit judge and Commonwealth's attorney, as will be seen by our Danville letter. Messrs. Breckinridge and Noel objected to the ballot, the manner of counting, not "casting," as the printer had it in our last issue, and the plan of appointing officers of the election, and petitioned the committee to change them. Judge Saufley, who is always satisfied with any action of the constituted authorities, refused to sign the petition.

—A farmer who takes notice of such things says he counted over 500 stacks of hay and wheat on the pike between here and Danville.
—M. O. Vandever has a field of corn that he is positive would sell for more money than the land. This shows that he has not suffered for rain.
—The Kentucky Association (running), of Lexington, has decided to change the date of its meeting so as not to conflict with the trotting meeting. It will begin October 15 and continue 13 days.
—Supt. S. G. Hocker, of the New Roller Mills, tells us that he has bought to date 35,000 bushels of wheat at 70 c and is still paying that sum. He has elevator capacity of about 50,000 bushels.
—Givens & Carter sold to W. B. Hill 66 ewes at $1 25 and to W. M. Lackey 57 ewes at $3.86. They sold to W. B. Hill 3 bucks at $10 and one to H. C. Drye at same price and 20 ewes to H. C. Drye at $4.25.
—The cold winds that are sweeping over the Southwest will not save the corn of Kansas. It will probably keep the corn from burning up any further, but at best the crop will not exceed half the estimated yield.

—R. D. Bruce, agent for Sullivan & Voris, Burgin, has bought within the last few days 75,000 bushels of wheat at 70c. John Will Poor bought of O. F. Meredith 100 Tennessee ewes at $3.75. Ed Browning, Jr., of Pine Grove, sold 110 hogs, averaging 275 pounds, at 5 1/2 c.—Advocate.
